

eBooks: A Quick Introduction

About this Service

Members of any library in the Ramapo Catskill Library System (RCLS) can choose from many eBooks, eAudiobooks, and eVideos provided by RCLS / OverDrive.

Some eBooks can be viewed on your computer. Others, such as eAudio books and eMusic, can be heard on your computer. Many eBooks may be transferred to digital media devices or eReaders (nice but not required).

After installing some software (or “apps”), you can start enjoying this free service!

Getting Started

At www.thrall.org you will see an eBooks link on our home page. Before you click it, try the “help pages” link first: this will take you to a menu where you can learn how to download eBooks based on whatever computer, eReader, or media device you have.

Once at the eBooks Help Pages menu, please click Overdrive Help Pages and select your device (Nook, Sony Reader, Kindle, etc.). OverDrive (the eBooks provider) provides detailed instructions on how to proceed.

Finding eBooks

When your computer / eReader / device is set up, you can return to our home page (www.thrall.org) and click right on the eBooks link and select the Download eBooks & eAudio Books option from the menu.

You can search or browse. Several browse options exist: Category (new eBooks, children’s or teen eBooks, music, videos, etc.), Topic (fiction, genre, nonfiction, and more), and Format (whatever eBook format your computer / eReader / device supports).

When searching, each title listed in your search results can be clicked for additional details, which usually include the author, a brief summary, the various format(s) available, and if a title is currently available.

You will see an Add to Download List link for titles which are immediately available. Like regular library books, eBooks are “checked out” to people (for up to three weeks – a duration you can change in your eAccount preferences). You can click the Place a Request link to get on a waiting list for titles currently unavailable.

Some titles are “always available.”

To see all titles available to you through your library, you should always log in to your “eAccount” before searching. Click the My eAccount login link at the top of the eBooks menu.

Downloads & Transfers

Depending on the speed of your Internet connection and the size of the files to be downloaded, digital items can take a while to transfer. Some audio or video files can be huge!

eAudiobooks often must be downloaded in parts. You can delete any downloaded eBook / eAudiobook files on your computer / eReader / device to make space for other parts (if necessary).

Not all eBooks / eAudiobooks / eFiles can be transferred. Please check the Digital Rights Information section on each item’s information page within the eBooks catalog to learn what options are available.

When Done

eBooks never need to be “returned”: they simply expire when their due date is reached and can be deleted.

Technical Assistance & Troubleshooting

Additional technical assistance / troubleshooting is provided by the eBooks provider (OverDrive) and the Ramapo Catskill Library System (RCLS). You can reach their online support pages through this convenient forwarding link: www.thrall.org/esupport
