Homebound Delivery Service

Did you know that the Library offers delivery of materials to homebound members of our community? Our homebound delivery service is designed to keep people connected to vital literacy, information and entertainment resources even though they are unable to come to the Library; we bring the Library to them! Books, magazines, DVD movies, and music or audiobooks on CD are available with delivery free of charge. Deliveries are made once every four weeks by a friendly Library volunteer who will delivery items by request or items that have been selected by a professional Librarian based on the interests of the person receiving the delivery. We want to help keep people connected to their Library! Please contact Library Director, Matt Pfisterer at 845-341-5485 for more information.

Conducting "Opposition" Research

As our nation enters another politically-charged election cycle and partisanship seems to be at an all-time high, it is timely to remember that public libraries exist for everyone's benefit – institutions truly of the people, by the people, and for the people.

One of the many ways library resources can be utilized is to gain more insight into - and appreciation of - those who are different than us, whether that difference is political, cultural, economic, philosophical, or of any other form.

Moving beyond all the hyper-partisan sensationalism you might expect to encounter in traditional media and social media outlets, at libraries you can calmly and objectively explore our country's history, including its famous founders, along with its historic advocates, and heroic challengers of the status quo.

You can also safely research ideas which seem to oppose what you believe, discovering what you would prefer changed or kept the same in this world, while learning why various individuals and groups reached their perspectives over decades and centuries.

Researchers often discover there are very specific reasons or historic situations leading to the rise or fall of certain ideas and ideologies. Awareness of these developments can enable us to discuss and debate many topics more patiently and intelligently.

Research areas such as civics, history, political science, government, world literature, and philosophy can provide us essential knowledge that not only promotes comprehension but also tolerance, empathy, respect, and even compassion.

Such knowledge can also prepare us, as citizens and individuals with shared societal interests and personal aspirations for betterment, to speak and act less from purely political instincts and more with the vital wisdom and caring that serves to bridge our divides and nurture our communities through communication, negotiation, and collaboration with present or former "rivals" (who might eventually become allies or friends some day).

Yes, we certainly can hope! More than that, we can preserve much hope through our mutual support of public libraries and our amazing communities, which only stand to become more enlightened and empowered through libraries while helping to create and foster better futures for generations to come!

Coming Soon...

www.thrall.org/newspapers

In coming weeks, Newspaper Archive, one of our most popular electronic database subscriptions, will soon be available to members of Thrall from home! In addition to some (1960-1977) Times Herald-Record papers, this database includes other Middletown papers back to the 1800s, including the Daily Argus, Daily Evening Press, and Daily Press, among others.

From Our Government Information Librarian

The 2020 Census is right around the corner! This official count, which is mandated by the Constitution, and conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau, provides information about our population in all 50 states, as well as the District of Columbia and five U.S. territories. A complete and accurate count is critical for our community, as the results of census data help to determine not only the distribution of billions of dollars of federal funding for our schools, hospitals, fire departments, roads, housing, and other resources, it also determines the number of seats that each state will have in the U.S. House of Representatives. In addition, census data is used to draw congressional and state legislative districts. By April 1, 2020, every home will have received an invitation to participate. This year, all participants are able to respond in one of three ways; online, by phone, or by mail. Our population has been counted every 10 years since 1790! For more information visit <https://www.census.gov>
